HELMET STORAGE

DESCRIPTION

Because a helmet deserves better than being thrown in the back of a truck, we have developed the HELMETBOX: a cylindrical transport bag that protects your helmet from shocks and dirt, without having to take off visor and radio system. This new version results from your feedback. The air vents are no longer on the top but on the sides, and both lid and side panel have been reinforced for optimal protection. There is a pocket for an identification card (provided), so that you can easily know which is your helmet when working with a team.
