DATASHEET

ARBO UP

The size-adjustable chest harness is the ideal addition for arborists who prioritize efficiency, comfort, and flexibility during single rope ascents. It keeps the descender consistently in the optimal position, enabling smooth and energy-efficient climbing—especially beneficial during long ascents in the tree. The soft neck strap ensures high wearing comfort even during intensive use and can be fully adjusted to individual needs. Multiple attachment points allow seamless integration into various rope system configurations, making it a versatile solution for daily arborist work. Another key advantage is its compact pack size. The harness can be folded down extremely small and stored space-efficiently, making it ideal for mobile tree care applications. Please note: this product is not personal protective equipment (not PPE).
